Griffin has been writing poetry for over 40 years beginning with his signature salute to his military service with his "Rolling Thunder," an homage inspired by his service in Vietnam and inspired by all those with whom he served. He is the father of Kevin who resides in Atlanta, GA, with his wife Ashley and their son Rory. He is also the father of Allison who lives with her husband Jason and their daughter Molly in Asheville, NC. This is his first book and he is at work on a military memoir.

The Leonard Bernstein Letters, edited by Nigel Simeone, compiles correspondence to and from the legendary composer and conductor. The letters — from serious to silly — offer a detailed look at both the distinguished career and the adventurous personal life of a singular American genius.
