Circle Jerks- Product of My Environment off the album "Golden Shower of Hits".

A caged animal becomes a product of his environment; mankind however builds his environments to suit his needs. If someone claims that you are a product of your environment, it means the environment you live in, has become your accepted norm, and now it influences you, rather than you influencing it.

Are You A Product Of Your Environment? By Mike Mahler "I do not see myself as a product of my environment. I see my environment as a product of me."

I watched how they launched their boats, how they tweaked their control lines, how they maintained their positions on the starting line, how they used their weight to help them turn around the marks.

In my opinion, the perception of society on your character should be a lesser worry, because they could be wrong anyway and you can't walk around worrying about what people think about you, that's their business. Of more concern is the impact that the people you surround yourself with impact your character.

Product of My Environment. It's now easy to see the lasting impact of the local sailing talent of his youth.
